

Accounting for Lawn Mowing Contractors

"Your vehicle is a vital part of your business and you can download our Motor Vehicle Tax Guide from the resources section of our website. It lists the alternative methods of claiming your car expenses and details the distinction between a business trip and a private trip for trades people."

As you know, running a lawn mowing business is very competitive and the statistics tell us that the average business 'life span' of a mowing contractor is less than two years. This is partially attributable to the fact that many lawn mowing contractors come out of a corporate environment and struggle to cope with the physical demands of the job. These baby boomer mowing contractors are burnt out inside 12 months and the lifestyle decision ends up being a poor financial decision. They generally over estimate the income potential of the business and under estimate the business running costs, the wear and tear on their motor vehicle and the importance of marketing.

It's a fact that many lawn mowing contractors fail to give accounting and tax issues the attention they deserve. They make cash purchases most days and are notorious for losing the corresponding tax invoices. While GST, BAS and tax payments often represent some of the largest financial obligations for a mowing business, most tradespeople fail to understand their tax obligations, pay too much tax and are exposed to substantial penalties and fines for non-compliance. In many instances this leads to financial failure.
